

PHOTO/MEDIA OPPORTUNITY

'The last of the great firsts' – kayaking 2200km from Sydney to Auckland, unassisted.

What: Launch of a world first kayak expedition

Who: James Castrission & Justin Jones

When: 9:30am, 6 January 2007

Where: Australian National Maritime Museum, Darling Harbour, Sydney

Join two young Australian adventurers, in their last public outing before they tackle 'the last of the great firsts' – kayaking more than 2200 kilometres unsupported from Sydney, Australia to Auckland, New Zealand, in aid of the Sydney Children's Hospital, Randwick.

James and Justin will talk about what it takes to prepare for a world first Trans-Tasman kayak expedition, and will also be on hand for interviews, photos and a paddle around the harbour.

For further information contact:

Pat Brothers on +61(0) 407 276 728

Or visit www.crossingtheditch.com.au

"THROUGH COMMITTING OURSELVES TO ACHIEVING ONE OF 'AUSTRALIA'S LAST GREAT FIRST', WE WISH TO INSPIRE OTHERS NOT TO BE AFRAID OF PURSUING THEIR OWN ADVENTURES AND DREAMS..."

Proudly supported by:

